

Coffee Bean Cuisine

Clearview Primary and local charity 'One Mother to Another' are collaborating to create a unique culinary competition to help raise money for the amazing work this charity does.

'One Mother to Another' provides gift bags to distressed mums and carers who find themselves in either the Children's Acute Unit or the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at Christchurch Hospital. The need is great – around 170 gift bags per month.

Over the past few months the team at 'One Mother to Another' have been busy collecting recipes from celebrities and renowned chefs including, Annabel Langbein, Peter Gordon, Pete Evans, Josh Emmett and Toni Street to form a cookbook which will be sold around New Zealand.

The competition is called 'Coffee Bean Cuisine'. We invite you to collect a bag of our Clearview coffee, served at the Five to Nine cafe, and use it to create a delicious dish of any kind, sweet or savoury, food or beverage. Dishes entered will be judged by celebrity chef Jax Hamilton, and the winning entry professionally photographed and published alongside the celebrity recipes in the 'One Mother to Another' cookbook.

Competition rules

The competition is open to anyone who loves to cook

All entrants must register

The dish must be made by the registered entrant in a home kitchen

Clearview coffee must be one of the ingredients (no other brand or type of coffee can be used)

All entrants may attend as guests at the judging

The judges' decision will be final

Judging

Judging will take place on Wednesday 4th April at 10.00am in the Five to Nine Cafe.

Registration

To register your entry and collect your Clearview Coffee, please see Jeannie Hood in the Five to Nine café. A small fee of $5 will be charged to cover the costs of the coffee.

Brought to you by

